

Eli Zabar is a passionate collector of Old World wines, especially wines of Burgundy, Champagne, and Piedmont.

For three long years Eli's Table was closed, but Eli continued buying wine, protecting the integrity of the verticals and maintaining the allocations of rare wines. The wines selected for this list are a small fraction of a larger collection – more than 50,000 bottles, all resting peacefully in three cellars on the Upper East Side. These wines were made by growers respectful of the terroir, with many following organic or biodynamic principles.

Eli is patient when it comes to his cellars. He believes that too many bottles are opened too young – hope over reason! And he prefers to wait, ideally allowing wines to reach peak maturity.

Expect the wine service at Eli's Table to be friendly, knowledgeable, accessible, and interactive as we work to provide a dining experience that encourages discovery and pleasure.

Cheers! Sante! Salud!

Note: The letters you see next to each vintage indicate that the wine is biodynamic (b), organic (o), sustainable (s), natural (n) and/or traditional (t), a serious consideration for us and an important component of our wine program.
